📍 Uganda - Kajjansi

Assist local teachers of kindergarten and early primary school-aged children with basic English and other fun activities!

Use songs, games, activities and other creative methods to engage local children in learning as they improve their English skills, academic performance and expand their worldview. Share photos, flags, stories and other insights to provide more about your life in your country. You will get just as much or even more from this amazing experience!

Program Description

In Kajjansi, there are a few kindergartens open for children up to five years old at the local school. This provides a safe place where parents can send their children during the day while they are working. Unfortunately there is not always adequate space provided for them. We are hoping to improve this situation through community development projects combined with the assistance of participants willing to come in and share their time, effort and knowledge.

You can expect to spend time assisting local staff and getting to know some of the local children by playing with them, feeding them, helping them to get to know someone from a far away place. Moreover, you will get the chance to coordinate educational activities that will likely prove valuable for the children using music, playing sports, and teaching basic English, etc.

This is an opportunity for a great cultural exchange opportunity, allowing them to grow their perspectives of the world outside of their small village and for you to gain an appreciation for the gifts that lie within their community as well.
